Style in War-Time

Some men may feel that it isn't patriotic to go in for style these days.

It isn't if you just buy clothes for style alone. Quality is of first importance every time; you must have it if you want to save for yourself and the nation.

The nice thing about it here is the fact that you get style in addition to quality; it doesn't make the clothes cost any more and it doesn't waste any material.

Hart Schaffner & Marx designers have produced some unusually smart suits and overcoats; you don't have to be told the quality's right—everybody knows it.

TEXT OF PRESIDENT WILSON'S REPLY

President Wilson's reply to the German chancellor's note addressed to and transmitted through the Swedish charge d'affaires, is as follows:

"The unqualified acceptance by the present German government and by a large majority of the reichstag of the terms laid down by the president of the United States of America in his address to the congress of the United States on the 8th day of January, 1918, and in his subsequent address, justifies the president in making a frank and direct statement of his decision with regard to the communications of the German government of the 8th and 12th of October, 1918.

"It must be clearly understood that the process of evacuation and the conditions of an armistice are matters which must be left to the judgment and advice of the military advisers of the government of the United States and the allied governments, and the president feels it his duty to say no arrangement can be accepted by the government of the United States which does not provide absolutely satisfactory safeguards and guarantees of the maintenance of the present military supremacy of the armies of the United States and the allies in the field.

"He feels confident that he can safely assume that this will also be the judgment and decision of the allied governments.

"The president feels that it is also his duty to add that neither the government of the United States nor, he is quite sure, the governments with which the government of the United States is associated as a belligerent, will consent to consider an armistice so long as the armed forces of Germany continue the illegal and inhuman practices which they still persist in. At the very time that the German government approaches the government of the United States with proposals of peace its submarines are engaged in sinking passenger ships at sea and not the ships alone, but the very boats in which passengers and crews seek to make their way to safety; and in their present enforced withdrawal from Flanders and France the German armies are pursuing a course of wanton destruction which has always been regarded as in direct violation of the rules and practices of civilized warfare. Cities and villages, if not destroyed, are being stripped of all they contain, not only, but often of their very inhabitants.

"The nations associated against Germany cannot be expected to agree to a cessation of arms while acts of inhumanity, spoliation and desolation are being continued, which they justly look upon with horror and with burning hearts.

"It is necessary, also in order that there may be no possibility of misunderstanding that the president should very solemnly call the attention of the government of Germany to the language and plain intent of the terms of peace, which the German government has now accepted. It is contained in the address of the president delivered at Mount Vernon on the Fourth of July last.

"It is as follows: 'The destruction of every arbitrary power anywhere that can separately, secretly and of its single choice, disturb the peace of the world or, if it cannot be presently destroyed, at least its reduction to virtual impotency.'

"The power which has hitherto controlled the German nation is of the sort here described. It is within the choice of the German nation to alter it. The president's words just quoted naturally constitute a condition precedent to peace, if peace is to come by the action of the German people themselves. The president feels bound to say that the whole process of peace in his judgment depend upon the definiteness and the satisfactory character of the guarantees which can be given in this fundamental matter. It is indispensable that the governments associated against Germany should know beyond a peradventure with whom they are dealing.

"The president will make a separate reply to the royal and imperial government of Austria-Hungary.

"Accept, sir, the renewed assurances of my high consideration. (Signed) "ROBERT LANSING," To Frederick Oederlin, Charge d'affaires, ad interim in charge of German interests in the United States.

LONDON PAPERS APPLAUD WILSON

(By the Associated Press)
London, Oct. 15.—"German autocracy must go," is the heading placed over President Wilson's reply to the German peace proposal by the Star which, like most London newspapers, considers this the first peace condition. The president's declaration that the present allied military supremacy must be maintained during any discussion, is given next prominent place in press comment.

FRENCH MAKE IMPORTANT ADVANCE, AMERICANS IN THE THICK OF FIGHT.

(By the Associated Press)
Paris, Oct. 15.—French troops have made an important advance toward Rethel and have captured Nanteuil-sur-Aisne, two and one-half miles west of Rethel, says today's official statement. In the Argonne the French have reached the Aisne, west of Grand Pre, and have captured Olizy village and Termes. Nearly 800 prisoners were taken in this region. South of Serre three towns have been taken in the advance. Roulers in Belgium was captured Monday.
Americans Cross Selle River.
London, Oct. 15.—American patrols crossed the Selle river in the St. Souplet neighborhood, south of Le Cateau, yesterday and took thirty prisoners. Field Marshal Haig announced in today's official statement. Raising operations on several portions of the British front, notably near Sainghin en Wepe, southwest of Lille, also are reported by Haig. Prisoners were also taken by British parties.

HUNS REPORTED QUITTING OSTEND

SAID TO BE FIGHTING DELAYING ACTIONS IN FLANDERS TO COVER RETREAT.

(By the Associated Press)
On Flanders front from the Oise to the Meuse, the allies continued today their vigorous blows for important gains, as the French press on in Laon-Aisne region. The allied offensive in Belgium is now within two miles of the important Courtrai rail road center and almost dominates, with their guns, the railroad running from Lille to the Belgian coast and hampers all communications between Ostend and Lille. The German resistance in Flanders appears to be only for the purpose of delaying the allies until Belgian evacuation can be completed. The enemy is reported to be evacuating the submarine base of Ostend and sending out large boat loads of troops from the coast. In all regions between the Oise and the Aisne rivers the French are giving the enemy little chance to dig in should he desire to do so. The French have captured Nanteuil-sur-Oise and now threaten Rethel between Argonne and the Meuse rivers. The Americans are battling forward through German wire entanglements, tanks being brought up especially in Romagner region to assist the infantry as on Monday, satisfactory progress is being made there today.

WILSON'S REPLY TO HUNS.

If there were any who thought Wilson would be hoodwinked by any form of deception the Huns could invent, his fears must vanish now when he reads the president's unequivocal and prompt reply to the pretended acceptance of his peace terms by the German government. Had the Germans not put themselves beyond the pale of civilization by their barbarous conduct of the war, utterly disregarding all principles of international law as well as their own solemn treaties, the case might be different, but in dealing with such a treacherous race the president does well in demanding that they first show signs of forsaking their barbarous ways before dealing with them. Having lied and deceived all they have had dealings with at every opportunity, it would never do to give them an opportunity to recuperate and come back in an attack on an unsuspecting world as they did in this war. The Allies want this to be the last war and they do not feel inclined to leave the work half done and in a few years be forced to go through the same fiery ordeal they are now passing through. The world must be made safe for democracy for all time to come. Wilson sees that the plea for an armistice is only an effort on the part of Germany to gain time to reorganize their shattered forces and ward off impending disaster around the conference table when unable to do so on the field of battle and refuses to be duped by any such transparent methods. Wilson wants peace, the Allies long for it, the world cries for it, but all agree that the claws of the tiger must be cut off before turning him loose, else all the sacrifices of the past four years will have been in vain. When the Huns are ready for peace they can have it, but not on their own terms.

(By the Associated Press)

San Francisco, Oct. 15.—Eleven men who came to California in '49 across the continent by prairie trail or by sailing vessel round the Horn met here recently and drank a toast to "the days of gold." They represented the 41 remaining members of the Society of California Pioneers, which at one time comprised 3,000 lovers of adventure. For years the pioneers have held a reunion in this city, but year by year the attendance has dwindled.

Among those who made the last pilgrimage from various parts of the country were three members of the vigilance committee which, in 1856, quelled a reign of terrorism and lawlessness in San Francisco by a number of hangings.

Demand for Clothing Very Great.
(By the Associated Press)

Havre, Oct. 15.—The fifth winter of the war will bring greater demands than ever for civilian relief in Belgium, according to a statement of Lieut. Colonel Ernest P. Bicknell, American Red Cross Commissioner for Belgium in which he announced that the commission has supplied more than $100,000 worth of clothing to Belgian refugees in the last nine months.

"There are more Belgian refugees in France now than at any time during the war," Colonel Bicknell said. "Prices are higher, rent is higher, and large numbers of people who, for the first year or two, retained their vigor, are tired, prematurely old, discouraged, sometimes almost helpless."

"There is probably no piece of service that the American Red Cross can render to Belgian people which will help more efficiently than to assist them in properly clothing themselves."

DADDY'S EVENING TALK
BY MARY GRAMMARONER

MAHOLI GALAGO.

"Far, far away," said Daddy, "in a country called South Africa, which you both doubtless know about from your Geography lessons—"

"Are we going to have a Geography story?" asked Nick, feeling a little sad.

"Of course we have so many pleasant stories, Daddy," said Nancy politely, "that you must tell us just what you feel like telling us."

Daddy laughed hard. "Dear me, you were both afraid the story was going to be a Geography story, and though you both wished to be polite you didn't think the evening was the time for a lesson—that is when Daddy comes around to tell his good-night story."

"Well, I don't think so myself, and the story has nothing to do with a Geography lesson except that the creature I am going to tell you about came from South Africa, as I said before, and doubtless you both know where it is—but if you don't, this isn't the time for telling you—you can find that out from your maps tomorrow."

"Good-morrow," said Maxwell Maholi Galago to his brother, Mansfield.

"Good-morrow," said Mansfield.

"Do you know that we are distant relatives of the Lemur family and they are related to the monkey family?" asked Maxwell.

"I don't know it and I can't say that I care whether I do or not," said Mansfield.

"Oh, dear," said Maxwell, "there passes a bug. I must have him." He caught the bug and ate it.

"I'll have the next one, Brother Maxwell," said Mansfield.

"Your home is as untidy as mine is," said Maxwell. "You find a forked branch so that two sides of your house are built without much trouble and you get some old sticks, dried leaves and any other old stuff you can find to finish it off with. You don't bother about housekeeping, nor does your mate. I can see that."

"What's the use in fussing?" asked Mansfield. "As long as I have a place to eat and sleep, that is all I care about. Of course I don't build a large enough home as a rule, for when the little ones came not long ago I had to move out—there wasn't room for all of us, and I didn't think it was gentlemanly to turn Mrs. Mansfield out."

"But later on the little ones found their own homes, and built them, so I moved back once more."

"You think just the same as I do," said Maxwell. "And you do just the same, too. I have heard of creatures who were forever fussing about their homes, dusting, finding pretty things and bothering all the time. Really, they get all tired out, and why, may I ask?"

"You may ask, but I can't tell you," said Mansfield, "for I do not understand such people."

"I feel sleepy," said Maxwell; "it is bedtime. So he went back to his own home, folded his two huge and very peculiar ears behind his head and slept for a long time."

"When he woke up he had a meal of insects."

"Eating, sleeping, doing nothing, are the only things in the world I believe in," he said when Mansfield came to return his call later on.

"I agree," said Mansfield. "Ah, yes, I see, you are just as untidy as I am—every bit of it. My, what a looking home you have got! It's quite too terrible for words, and I think that is the right sort to have."

"Ah, to be lazy, to do nothing, what joy it is!"

"We are supposed to be as lazy as any creatures living," said Maxwell.

"Good!" said Mansfield. "I am glad folks and creatures know we have good sense."

"But we wouldn't like them all to follow our example," said Maxwell. "We will let them work, for there is work to be done in the world, only we don't want to know of it."

"We don't want to know of it, and we don't want to do it," said Mansfield, "but most especially we don't want to do it—and we won't!"

"And they each shook paws on it and each ate a leaf full of insects."

He Didn't.

"Robert," said the teacher of one of the lower classes during the progress of a reading exercise, "please read the first sentence."

A diminutive lad arose to his feet and, amid a series of labored gasps, breathed forth the following:

"See the horse runnin'!"

"Don't forget the 'g' Robert," admonished the teacher.

"Gee, see the horse runnin'!"

PATTON SUFFERED FOR 20 LONG YEARS

Former Deputy Sheriff is Like a Different Man Since Taking Tanlac

"After suffering twenty years with rheumatism indigestion and liver trouble, I took Tanlac and it has straightened me out and made me feel like a different man," said J. D. Patton of Cabot, Arkansas, recently. Mr. Patton was for several years Deputy Sheriff of Rains County, Texas, and more recently held the same office in Muskogee county, Oklahoma, where he is well known.

"I was hardly ever free from rheumatism," he continued, "and was so miserable, most of the time that I could hardly sleep. My shoulders ached so I could hardly stand it, my liver was all out of shape, and my appetite was so poor that I had to force down the little I did eat and even that would disagree with me, and keep me stirred up for hours afterward I fell off twenty pounds and it was a burden to me to try to look after my farm and keep up with my other business and I was just about to give up hope."

"Well, sir, I haven't had a pain or an ache since I started on Tanlac and now I don't feel like the same person. I have a fine appetite, I can eat most anything I want and it agrees with me. I have got back my lost weight, I sleep like a log and get up in the morning with strength and energy enough to look after my business without a bit of trouble. My wife was so pleased with the way Tanlac relieved me that she too, is taking Tanlac and it has done her as much good as it did me."

Tanlac is sold in Ada by Gwin & Mays Drug Co.

FORMER DANCING GIRL SENSATION OF ARENA

Miss Bender and "Thunder Cloud"

Perseverance always wins, is the adage old and true proved in the life of Miss Florence Bender, dainty equestrienne with the Barnum & Bailey Circus which will be seen here October 24.

Born in a beautiful little hillside bungalow in faraway Switzerland in the month of July, exactly twenty-six summers ago, she has risen from a humble dancing girl and "object holder" in a little European one-ring circus to the enviable position of premier lady barback rider of the world.

Since earliest infancy Miss Bender has been a member of the circus world, her family for generations back having been performers of one kind or another, and her father and five brothers being members of a famous acrobatic act which is still a feature in the music halls and circuses of Europe. With the exception of five brief years of schooling, Miss Bender has spent her entire life amid circus surroundings having entered the employ of a Continental show at age 14. For 5 years she appeared merely as a dancing girl in the various ballet features and as an "object holder" in the ring. In this capacity, while holding paper covered hoops and other necessary paraphernalia used by various riders of the show during their acts, the little Swiss girl formed her ambition to become a great equestrienne.

Accordingly she began to practice during the hours when the show was not exhibiting. Receiving encouragement from the management she developed her talent rapidly and when she 19 years old she made her first appearance as a principal barback rider at the Circus Schumann, in Frankfurt, Germany. After a finishing course of a year in the small European circuses, an agent of the Barnum & Bailey Show discovered her in Paris and offered her a trial engagement in America. Her success in this country was almost instantaneous and she is now the feature rider of the Barnum & Bailey circus. Miss Bender's grace and beauty have contributed no small part toward her success on this side of the ocean, and she has made a host of friends in every city that the Barnum &

WHAT A GERMAN MADE PEACE MIGHT MEAN

London, Oct. 15.—(Correspondence of The Associated Press).—“What a German Peace is Like,” is the heading on an article written for the Weekly Dispatch by Annie Parr, who has just arrived in London from Bucharest.

“I was in Bucharest, when the Germans entered the Rumanian capital,” she writes. “They had evidently decided that it would not be wise to shock the world with another Belgium, and they were careful to keep their troops under control, but they were the masters. I remember a male friend of mine who was returning home from dinner in evening clothes being stopped in the streets in the middle of the winter and compelled to sweep away the snow for hours in the bitter cold.”

“Many a beautiful home was wrecked. The Germans had no scruples about converting drawing-rooms into stables for their horses, and front garden into cemeteries for their dead.”

“Terrible atrocities were committed by the Bulgarians, and the sufferings of the prisoners they took were unspeakable. Of 30,000 Rumanians taken prisoners only 8,000 returned, and they were in an appalling condition. They were skeletons, scarcely able to walk. At the station they seemed too weak to eat or drink. When we offered them food they simply sank down on a bench and burst into tears.”

“It was a most tragic home-coming for the Rumanian soldiers, following upon the crushing peace terms. It has left on my mind a unforgettable impression of what a German peace is like. Those soldiers came back in rags and half-starved to homes that had been reduced to poverty. They had to witness in silence the insolent bearing of the German soldiery in their streets. The officers were told they would either have to salute the German officers or take off their uniforms. They preferred to take off their uniforms. “There are still plenty of German soldiers there looking fat and well and at no pains to conceal their satisfaction at the conclusion of a peace which has put a crushing economic burden on to Rumania and bound the country and its trade hand and foot to the Germans. The one hope of the people is an Allied victory.”

HUNS WORRIED BY FRENCH TANKS

With the American Armies, Sept. 15.—(Correspondence of The Associated Press).—Greater laurels daily are being won by the French light “tanks” which are co-operating with the American forces in pushing the Germans back toward the Rhine.

Among the many individual feats of the tanks and their drivers which have come to light, one of the most interesting, perhaps, is that of Brigadier Cellier, who has been decorated with the cross of the Legion of Honor for his work in a light tank which enabled fifteen American soldiers to capture 700 Germans.

Several hundred of these tanks led the counter-offensive from the Villers-Cotterets forest in July, which marked what appears to have been the turning point of the war.

They broke through the enemy's lines, destroying his machine guns, overcoming strong centers of resistance and spreading panic and demoralization in the German ranks.

Wherever the infantry was preceded by the “chars d'assaut” as the French call them, the advance was three miles a day.

It was these same French light “tanks” which preceded the Americans in their advance upon Juvigny and Terny on the Soissons plateau. One of them, manned by a lieutenant, killed more than 200 Germans on the plateau.

Documents that have come into the hands of the French staff show that the Germans are greatly worried by the light tanks and are studiously coaching their men in methods of defense against them.

The light cars have the advantage of greater speed and of being more easily handled than the heavier tanks. They require a crew of only two men, a driver and a gunner and carry a one and a half inch gun and a machine gun.

A Correction.
In the hurry of preparing the copy in as brief a form as possible in yesterday's account of the proceedings an error was made in quoting John Rawls as saying that when the probability of finding a gun on Roddie was mentioned just before the shooting. The account in the paper made it appear that Coyne said Roddie had no gun. It should have been that he said he never knew Roddie to carry a gun.

Prof. E. A. MacMillan of the normal faculty has been appointed local weather observer for Ada, in place of Mrs. Dr. R. F. King who resigned. The change will be completed during the present month. Mrs. King has served most faithfully for many years and relinquished the position owing to ill health.

Mrs. Wm. Frank is recovering from an attack of Spanish influenza from which she has been confined to her bed since her return from Camp Pike, Little Rock, Ark., where she and Mr. Frank were called by the serious illness of their son, Everett, of pneumonia. A communication to Mr. Frank from the Red Cross connected with the base hospital of Camp Pike states that Everett is fast on the road to recovery.

An Explanation.
Some persons are said to have placed a wrong construction on the report of John Rawls' testimony appearing in Monday's paper. On direct examination he stated that Barton was not armed. On cross examination he stated it was possible to conceal a gun in the trousers of his uniform. He added, however, that deceased did not have a gun. Some have construed the sentence as indicating that Rawls thought he did have one, although such construction is not warranted.

Catching Turtle.
A curious mode of catching turtle is practiced in the West Indies. It consists in attaching a ring and a line to the tail of a species of suckerfish known as the remora. The live fish is then thrown overboard, and immediately makes for the first turtle it can spy, to which it attaches itself very firmly by means of a sucking apparatus arranged on the top of the head. Once attached to the turtle, so firm is its grip that the fishermen on drawing the line bring home both turtle and the sucker.

In the casualty list reported Monday, Mrs. W. D. Faust found among those killed in action the name of her nephew, Leslie Allen, of La Fayette, Tenn. The boy had made his home with Dr. and Mrs. Faust at one time while they lived in Tennessee, his mother having died when he was very small.

A telegram was received this morning from Roy Robinson of Camp John Wise stating that he had been ill of influenza, but was now better. The camp is closed to visitors as one thousand cases of pneumonia are reported at Camp Travis.

Roman Builders' Good Work.
Several hundred miles of old Roman walls, at least seventeen hundred years old, are still standing in England today. The best specimen of this work of the ancient Romans in England is the wall which crosses Northumberland, from near Newcastle to near Carlisle. In many places, the facing of this wall is still intact, showing what marvelous builders these Romans were.

Goat Meat Good Human Food.
The goat is said to be the cleanest feeder of the live stock world. It will not eat straw or hay that has been under foot. It nibbles the choicest bits of foliage and rejects all uncleanness. Its meat, therefore, is equally fit for human food with the flesh of the sheep. Present prices of goats for the range are well up to the prevailing figure for sheep.

For Fever Patient.
Here is a cooling drink for fever patients: Put a little sage, two sprigs of dill and a little sorrel into a stone jug, having first washed and dried it. Peel thin a small lemon, slice it and put a small piece of the peel in; then pour in three pints of boiling water. Sweeten and cover it closely.

Out of the Mouths of Babies.
At dinner the other evening, little Eleanor, eight years old, when asked if she liked beans, said: "Yes, I like beans—I like all kinds of beans—green beans, navy beans and human beans."

BOY SCOUTS

(Conducted by National Council of the Boy Scouts of America.)

SCOUTS HELP POLICE CITY

When the patrolmen of Cincinnati went on strike, the city was left in a very serious situation.

The city officials called upon a number of civic organizations for assistance, including the Boy Scouts of America. The following editorial from a local paper indicates how well they did their work and how much it was appreciated:

"Saturday morning boy scouts were on duty as traffic officers at street intersections in downtown Cincinnati.

"The boys went at the work with the energy and enthusiasm which were to be expected of them. As these lines are written, one of the youngsters is bossing the traffic at the corner of Sixth and Walnut in a way that brings smiles of approval and encouragement from passers-by.

"Regulation of traffic is a necessity in Cincinnati. Law-abiding people will obey the orders of the boy scouts on traffic duty and try to help them in their work. If there are any small enough in mind to impose upon the boys, it is more than probable that they will find the undertaking both unsuccessful and costly."

SCOUTS GROWING RAPIDLY.

In spite of the fact that of the scoutmasters and other scout officials a large percentage volunteered for active service immediately following the declaration of the war, and another large percentage was called to the colors by the first draft law, the records show that today the Boy Scouts of America has 43 per cent more scout officials than it had on the day war was declared and 66 per cent more scouts than it had on the day war was declared.

For every man who will go, each community will have at least five or more men who have the same qualities of leadership for carrying on the work. It is not necessary for them to know scouting from the technical point of view in order to efficiently serve as scoutmasters. They can secure experience by following the same course as their predecessors. The war has proven not only in England, but here in America, that between 50 and 60 there are scoutmasters even better than younger men.

Today there are 440,880 men and boys as compared with 272,031 on April 6, 1917. What will the records be in one year? There will be at least 714,000 men and boys if this percentage of increase is maintained.

THE READY BOY SCOUT.

A hall to the lad who always does his bit!
When there is work, he hustles into it
With the best of a batter who is swinging for a hit.
The ready and the steady and the heady Boy Scout.

He's often small, and he's never very big;
He's always square, and he cannot be a prig;
And when there is digging you ought to see him dig—
The ready and the steady and the heady Boy Scout.

The woodland lore is a bit of what he knows;
He loves the flag and follows where it goes;
He's a man in the making, the very best that grows—
The ready and the steady and the heady Boy Scout.

—John Clair Minot in Youth's Companion.

BOY SCOUTS RUN A CITY.

On a Saturday the mayor, the city officials and all members of the Sioux City commission turned over the city government to eight boy scouts for one-half hour.

The boy scouts held a regular session of council and discussed an ordinance for creating a city planning commission for Sioux City. At the end of the half-hour session the boys passed the ordinance creating such a commission, and then surrendered the reins of government to the city commissioners.

SCOUTS RUN FIRE ALARM.

The scouts of Roselle Park, N. J., have been placed in charge of the entire electric fire alarm system of the borough, including bells, house alarms, gangs, wire, alarm boxes, storage batteries and other equipment.

The appointment carries a salary of $50 per annum which will be added to the troop treasury. For two years the troop has had the care of 42 fire hydrants and three flags.

Troop No. 1 of Mullan, Idaho, built a tourist camp at Pottsville, four miles east of Mullan on the famous Yellowstone trail. Food for the workers was donated by the Shoshone County Good Roads association and the equipment by the United States government.

Troop No. 1 of Kellogg built another tourist camp four miles west of Kellogg on the trail. They cut out the underbrush and dead trees, leveled the ground, built tables and seats, made a bridge and fixed the spring.

RODDIE HELD TO DISTRICT COURT

The preliminary hearing of R. M. Roddie, charged with killing Percy O. Barton, was concluded this morning about 11:30 and Justice Brown held defendant for action of district court. Presumably his counsel will institute habeas corpus proceedings before some district judge and seek bail for their client.

Following is a summary of testimony taken after that given in Monday's paper.

Henry Stuckey.—Was near Rollow corner talking with John Rawls and others. Rawls said Percy Barton was looking for Roddie; the Judge and Roddie had had a fight in the court room. Saw Barton go across to First National Bank corner, come back and go into drug store. Roddie joined group and after being told a scratch on his neck was bleeding, said he would go to the drug store and get something to stop it. Barton came out and stuck and grabbed at Roddie. Roddie opened fire. Roddie and Barton were about the same size.

Theodore Rogers.—Testimony about the same as that of Stuckey.

Mack Dixon.—Was standing in front of Rollow's when shooting began. Barton's hands at sides when first saw him. Was not looking at Barton when first shot was fired. Saw Barton come out of drug store. Turned like he was going west. Looked like he was grabbing for Roddie's gun after first shot.

Mrs. McGraw.—Helped to take clothing off at hospital. Identified clothing offered in evidence. Shirt was fairly close fit. Never heard Barton make statement about shooting. Found no pistol in clothing.

Jack Dixon.—Saw Barton about drug store. Saw gun in Roddie's hand. Barton had one hand like he was grabbing for Roddie's gun. Did not see position of other hand.

Rodd McElroy.—Was west of the drug store when shooting took place. Had seen Barton on 12th street before that get in car and drive off. Heard he was going to whip Roddie.

R. P. Ford.—Was near Surprise Store when shooting took place. Picked up flattened bullet on sidewalk where Barton fell.

M. E. Parr.—Was stepping on sidewalk in front of drug store when shot was fired. Barton standing with hands at sides. After first shot began to reel backwards. Never saw any movement by either party before first shot was fired. Had paid no attention to men before shot was fired.

N. B. Stall.—Had photographed wounds on body. Identified photos.

Ed Jones.—Was in drug store. Saw Barton hurry out and strike at someone. Admitted on re-direct examination had testified that last seen of Barton he had hands at sides.

Henry Waters.—In front of drug store when shooting took place. Saw Barton before shooting began. Roddie came up a little later. Barton's hands were up when first shot was fired. Never saw him strike at Roddie. Barton fell at first shot.

A. Wall.—Gunshot attracted attention. Barton faced northwest; Roddie south. Barton moving backwards. Had left hand on level with face. Could not see right hand.

John Foster.—Parties seemed to be scuffling. Barton's hands towards Roddie. Of opinion he had hold of him. Did not think Barton was looking into stores as he passed along street.

Louie Sarrett.—Was in front of Rollow's. Looked up when first shot was fired. Looked like Barton was holding left hand up with right around wrist. Begot to fall as last shot was fired.

W. E. Scott.—In front of Union store when shooting began. Saw Barton trying to back away.

E. V. Estill.—In front part of Rollow's store when first shot was fired. Saw man in soldier's uniform standing with back to witness leaning against glass front with right foot on brass rail at base of glass. Saw him walk four or five feet before falling. Did not know if any other soldier in uniform was around.

The reporter failed to get the testimony of two or three other witnesses late in the afternoon. The state rested about 11 o'clock this morning and the defense put a few witnesses on the stand.

Dr. W. D. Faust and two or three others testified that about half an hour after being brought to the hospital and had regained consciousness, some one asked Barton how it happened. He stated that he had tried to get Roddie, grab him, or something to that effect, and Roddie was too quick for him and shot him.

The state objected to the introduction of this testimony and after hearing the arguments on both sides Judge Brown sustained the objection and ruled it out.

A. C. Chaney—was in the county attorney's office after the fight between Judge Barton and Roddie took place in court room. Heard Judge Barton say to Percy, "Don't bother him in the court room," or words to that effect. Also said: "If you don't whip him you are no son of mine."

Never heard Percy say anything. They looked into court room and other officer and Judge Barton remarked: "The coward has gone." Witness discussed with Walter Goynes the best means of preventing more trouble. Judge Barton left impression of being much enraged.

On cross examination witness described fight in court room between Roddie and Judge Barton.

She Had Grown Old.
Frederick's mother was showing him a picture just sent from his cousin, a young woman whom he had not seen since she was a young girl. "Why, mother," exclaimed Frederick, "Cousin Elizabeth is old enough to wear hairpins, isn't she?"

Expert at Tribal Sport.

One method the Zuni practice for keeping in trim is their tribal sport, which was witnessed for the first time by a number of Americans at the recent ceremonies. The game is known as "kick-the-stick," and is a sort of hockey played with the bare feet. The stick is a bit of wood three or four inches long, and each team tries to kick it down a long course to a goal. So expert are the players and so fast do they travel, that a number of spectators wore out their horses trying to keep up with the game.

Burial in Old English Churches.

The places of burial beneath many of the old churches in England are arranged in different ways. In many cases the burial is made in a grave dug in the soil, as is done in an open graveyard. In some cases there is a crypt beneath the main floor, the crypt being practically one large vault, and here the coffins are deposited on shelves of stone. Sometimes the crypt is divided into separate vaults which are really small rooms enclosed on all sides by stone walls.
